AUTO SPILL CAUSES DEATH OF A NEGRO

TWO OTHERS INJURED WHEN CAR TURNS TURTLE

BABY ESCAPES UNHURT

Accident Occurs 5½ Miles Southeast of Here on Savannah Road

The Rev. Russell Ezell, 35, colored minister, McAllister, Okla., was killed and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eastling, 45 and 38, colored, 1211 South Fifteenth street, St. Joseph, were seriously injured in an automobile accident about 5 o'clock last night on the Savannah road five and one-half miles southeast of the city, when the automobile jumped the grade, turned over twice and finally settled on a fence post. A young child, Junior Washington, two and one-half years old, a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Eastling, escaped uninjured.

The three colored people were immediately brought to the St. Francis hospital, where the Rev. Ezell died about two hours after the accident from a ruptured liver. Eastling, the owner and driver of the car, was cut about the face with flying glass and suffered internal injuries. His wife sustained a broken collar bone and ribs and was generally bruised.

Ambulance Sent Out.

Harry Leamer, who was nearby at the time of the accident occurred, telephoned to Maryville for assistance. Dr. Frank Wallis and Dr. L. E. Dean were summoned and William Donahue drove the ambulance for Cummins-Wray to bring the bodies to town. Dr. Wallis said this morning that Mr. and Mrs. Eastling would recover.

According to Eastling the automobile was traveling from 15 to 20 miles an hour when the accident occurred. He said that he was just coming over the top of the hill and saw a car approaching from the opposite direction. He turned out plenty to let it pass and thinking perhaps that another car might be ahead, kept to the side of the road while going down the hill. Eastling said that the U. S. Rubber Co. sign at the turn of the road attracted his attention just at that time and before he realized the situation he had gone too far to the side of the grade and could not get back. "I tried to bring the car back, shut off the gas, and threw on both the brakes," Eastling said, "but before I knew it the car had turned over in the ditch twice, jumped a fence post and stopped on top of another post."

Rev. Ezell Tossed 20 Feet.

"The Reverend Mr Ezell was thrown about 20 feet north of the automobile and when I looked around the small child was bending over him. "My wife had been thrown forward, her foot being caught in the broken windshield, from which I relased her," Eastling said.

The Durant automobile was not seriously damaged. The windshield top was completely torn from the car and the front spindle bent. The car is now on display at the Lowry sales house.

The party of colored persons had left St. Joseph at 1 o'clock in the afternoon for Maryville. The Rev. Ezell had been preaching at St. Joseph but was on his way here to deliver some sermons. Eastling is a blacksmith at St. Joseph, being employed by the Grand Island Railway Co.

The body was taken to the Cummins & Wray undertaking parlors. This morning Mr. Cummins did not know definitely what would be done with the body or where burial will take place. Mr. Cummins said that the only external injuries he noticed on the Reverend Mr. Ezell was a scratch on his leg.

Skidmores See Accident.

The J. L. Skidmore family, living near the place where the accident occurred, saw the car when it went off the road. Mrs. Skidmore said this morning that she saw the car coming down the hill at a fast rate of speed, thought that the driver did not see the curve ahead so did not slow down.

Mrs. Skidmore continued that the automobile turned over twice, hit a fence post and finally stopped when it hit another post. "We went up to see the persons and found that the two colored men could not get up, so we took up some pillows for them," she said. Soon afterwards, the ambulance arrived and took the injured persons to the hospital.

Mercer Sees Wreck.

Albert Mercer, of the O. K. Garage went out to see the wreck. He says that he could see that the car must have been going at a high rate of speed because there were tracks on the edge of the grade where the car skidded for 40 feet. He also stated that it was a most peculiar accident as the front of the Durant was setting on top of the fence post just as if it had been raised there by a derrick with the rear end of the car pointing out towards the road.

Another remarkable thing about the car is that after it had been raised from the fence post it was able to come into town under its own power.

SUCCESS ATTAINED BY DILIGENT WORK

SAYS DR. W. F. BURRIS AT UNION SERVICES LAST NIGHT.

THREE WAYS TO WORK

Must Work Continuously, With Eyes and Ears Open, and Must Have Spirit of Christ in Work.

At the Union services held at the Baptist Church last night, Dr. W. F. Burris of St. Joseph delivered the sermon. This was the last union meeting to be held this summer. Beginning next Sunday, different churches will hold their own evening meetings.

The program for the services was as follows:

Scripture reading—The Rev. B. F. Cline.

Prayer—Dr. O. L. Curl.

Announcements—Dr. C. C. James.

Solo—Byron James.

Sermon—Dr. W. F. Burris.

"Whatsoever thy hands findeth to do, do it with all thy might," sayeth the Lord. This was the text chosen by Dr. Burris for the evening sermon.

"This is synonomous," said Dr. Burris, "to the old axiom which our mothers taught us, 'whatever's worth doing is worth doing well.' This is the true key to success. When you see a successful man nowadays you can always find that he has labored night and day and with all his strength in order to attain his position If he did not he would still be on the level with the other men of his day.

"There is no royal road to success. The road to success is one which you can not buy or inherit. It is a conquest, not a bequest and is won by work.

"In all of our work we find that the key to success in business will apply equally as well to religion. If our religion is to be outstanding and to progress we must work diligently and with all our might.

"There are three ways that we must work. We must work continuously. We must have our eyes and ears open. We must have the spirit of Christ in our work. How many of us can say that we love our religion and love to work in it.

"With all the power and number of people in the Protestant churches today if we would hold these three requirements before us, there is no telling what the church may accomplish. Let us all do our best in building and maintaining the church of God or in the words of the axiom if it is worth doing at all, it is worth doing well."

Liberty in Danger of Mob Violence Today

"Yellow" Jackson, Arrested, Following Accusations Of Widow—He Endeavored To Get Into Her Home

Liberty, Mo., Aug. 27—Feeling was at a high tension here today against "Yellow" Jackson, negro, who was arrested at the home of Mrs. Robert Baker, a widow, living nine miles north of here, and authorities fear mob violence might result.

Mrs. Baker said she was aroused early this morning by a crash of falling glass and saw a negro endeavoring to gain entrance through a window. She fired four shots at the man, none of which took effect.

Neighbors aroused by the widow's screams, telephoned Sheriff Joseph Elgin at Liberty. He and two deputies later arrested Jackson, a negro woman with whom he had been living, and a white man. Mrs. Baker has been a widow three months and has four small children.

AUTO WRECKS ARE FREQUENT SUNDAY

TWO FORDS COLLIDE NEAR THE CITY OF SKIDMORE.

ONE WOMAN IS INJURED

Motor car accidents were numerous in Nodaway County yesterday.

In addition to the fatality south of Maryville yesterday afternoon, three other motor accidents have been reported.

The Ford touring car of E. E. Barrett, linotype operator on the Democrat-Forum, was damaged yesterday on the road near Skidmore, 15 miles from Maryville, when another Ford touring car coming around the corner ran into Mr. Barrett's car, head-on.

Mr. Barrett with his wife and two boys, Elbert and Erman, were returning from Skidmore where they had been visiting Mr. Barrett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barret. Mr. E. E. Barrett said he saw the other Ford going north when he was on the jog connecting with the main road and stopped to let them pass. The Ford of a Mr. Kill of Maitland was driven by a girl. Mr. Kill was accompanied by five girls.

The fender was bent, hub cap torn off and a rear tire blew out on Mr. Barrett's car in the accident.

On Mr. Kill's car the front spring and radius rod were bent and the fender pushed in. The two gentlemen went back to Skidmore, had the cars repaired before going any farther.

Eads Stutz Goes in Ditch.

Dewey Eads of the Sewell garage, slid off the grade in his Stutz Bearcat last night two miles east of the city on the road on the river bottoms. A blow-out was the cause of the car going in the ditch. The slight mishap occurred about 1 o'clock this morning. No damage was done to the Stutz.

Dewey said that the rain was driving so hard at the time that he could hardly see the wall of the bridge ahead of him. His car was hauled up on the road this morning.

Mrs. Whited Injured

Mrs. Tony Whited of near Burlington Junction was slightly injured in an automobile wreck about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when a Ford car, driven by her husband, went into a ditch about five miles east of Burlington Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Whited and small daughter were returning to Burlington Junction from Maryville. As they neared the new concrete culvert across Sand CSreek, about five miles this side of Burlington Junction, Mr. Whited tried to turn out for a car crossing the culvert. He swerved the car and it hit a bump near the bridge and tumbled off into the ditch. Mrs. Whited was thrown against the car and sustained a cut on her left limb. The other occupants of the car were thrown out but escaped injury. Mrs. Whited's wounds were dressed by Dr. W. M. Hindman of Burlington Junction and she is getting along nicely this morning.

The car was badly damaged; the windshield, one front wheel and both fenders were smashed and three tires were blown out.

So serious was her condition that two detectives guarded her home last night, at her request.

RED CROSS OFFICER TELLS OF ALASKA

RETURNS LAST NIGHT FROM THIRTY DAY TRIP.

ENJOYS COUNTRY THERE

Says American People Have Misconception About Northern Possession—Harding Extra Issued.

Miss Betty Turner, Red Cross Secretary returned last evening from a sightseeing trip which extended from Maryville up through most parts of Alaska. She has been gone since July 24.

Miss Turner is enthusiastic about the trip she took and says that more people ought to see Alaska because most Americans have a misconception of that district of the United States and it is not appreciated as it should be.

She sailed on the S. S. Almeda from Seattle on July 28 for Ketchikan, Alaska, one of the first important points on the itinery. The thing which particularly took her attention was the fact that all the streets there are of boards built up above the water as the city is situated just between the harbor and the mountains. From Ketchikan she went by boat to Juneau, the capital of the territory and from there to Seward, thence to Faribanks.

Faribanks is 500 miles in the interior of the country. While at Seward she was talking to some of the natives and they remarked what a warm day it was. Miss Turner said:

"Why I don't think it is very warm as I have on my wraps." Yet the mercury stood at 94 degrees. Miss Turner remarked that she would not believe it until she varified the fact and then could not understand what she almost considered a phenomenon.

Uncle Sam has completed a railroad into the interior of Alaska, recently put into operation over which Miss Turner traveled. She said it furnished as good service as could be found in the country and that the dining car service was excellent.

Miss Turner remarked that while on the boat seven days out from Seattle they heard of the death of the late President Harding by wireless only 30 minutes after he died. A daily paper is published on most of the sea-going boats and they soon had an extra to read.

Finally, after threatening her life, they forced her to lie down on the floor while they swept the tills clean. The escaped with more than $1000 in cash.

PINCHOT SAYS MEN MUST NOT STRIKE

OPERATORS AND MINORS STILL CLING TO DEMANDS.

CONFER THIS AFTERNOON

Both Factions Make Statement Before Opening of Meeting—Operators Still Willing to Arbitrate.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 27—The people will not tolerate a strike in the anthracite fields Septermber 1, Governor Pinchot today warned the warring factions assembled in conference at the call of the Pennsylvania executive.

"The public interests demand that this controversy be settled and suspension of mining in the anthracite fields be avoided," Governor Pinchot said. "The thing is possible and it must be done."

A great determination was evident on the part of the Governor as he launched his opening in outspoken words. He called attention to the eight men, representing the two factions of the danger of a strike at this time.

He called attention to the huge loss of profits to the operators and the huge loss in wages to the miners, but particularly he stressed the inconvenience and the actual danger that a shut down on coal would make on the public.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 27—Governor Pinchot, seeking on behalf of President Coolidge to avert the threatened strike of anthracite coal workers, today faced a wall of closed minds.

Neither miners or operators intend to back down. This was definitely assured today by officers of both the miners and operators at the opening of their joint meeting with the Governor this afternoon.

Phillip Murray, vice-president of the mine workers' union said, "We will tell Governor Pinchot in the executive meeting today that the miners will continue to dig coal after September 1 if:

"First, the operators agree that we will receive another wage increase—the exact per cent can be settled later.

"Second, the operators grant us full recognition of the union through the "check off" system.

"Third, that all union miners of the anthracite field be given an eight-hour day."

"We will tell the Governor that we will stand on our offer to arbitrate everything—the wage question, the "check off," and all other demands of the miners."

Murray stated that the report that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, was not in reality a sick man, as his physicians stated, but "playing politics" in running away from the Pinchot meeting as a strategic move, was false.

Murray added that he had all the authority Lewis would have.

The probable action of Pinchot in his effort to avert a strike were discussed. The miners speculated on the calling on the Rev. J. M. Hoban, bishop of Scranton, for a conference with the Governor. Hoban is a power among the miners and the miners believe that Governor Pinchot is trying to induce him to go before them and ask for a settlement on the plan the Governor will outline.

The "Roosevelt plan," as a method for averting the strike, has been discussed, it is said, but it is not known whether this plan will be used or not.

A STUDY IN BRICKS

A brick weighs quite a bit, and should be manufactured as near as possible to the place where it is used in building says the Hannibal Courier-Post. So something is radically wrong with our "system" when three million bricks a month are imported into New York City from foreign countries. That's what has been happening this year.

"Shortage of brick" is a poor excuse. If we can't even make our own brick, the outlook for American industry is rather sad when it comes to commodities requiring more intricate manufacturing skill. Doesn't it appear strange that brick should be shipped to this country from foreign countries, when there is more or as much building clay here as there is any place on earth?

Golf Pointers

Answered by BOB MacDONALD

Veteran tournament player, winner of the Metropolitan open championship, 1921, and the Texas open championship, 1922. Famous the world over for long distance driving.

There is no club or combination of clubs that will make a golfer. This is the first thing to keep in mind.

The weight of the clubs should depend chiefly upon the strength of the player's wrists. If his wrists are weak he needs a light springy club; if his wrists are strong he can use a heavier club with a stiffer shaft.

When a club is in use, the club and the left arm are as one, the real terminus of the club being the left shoulder. Consequently the strength should be about the same all the way down, the wrist not being stronger than the shaft, nor the shaft stronger than the wrist.

(This is the last of the golf lessons. Next Monday there starts a series of swimming lessons by Bill Bacharch, swimming coach of the Illinois Athletic Club, the man who has turned out most of the world's champion swimmers during the past decade.)

Have you ever noticed

Were not enjoyed?

One person we feel sorry for is a naturally talkative woman who stutters.

A cynical bachelor says he who hesitates about proposing to a woman may gain when some other fellow does not and gets her.

It is a good idea to get your coal in early but you should not leave your shovel lay in the bottom of the bin and get it covered up with four tons like a man did the other day. Now he has to buy a new one.

It does not take a white lie very long to get dirty.

Uncle Abner says there is but one thing the average man hates worse than being flattered and that is not being flattered.

When we were little boys we used to take our toys apart for the joy of putting them together again. Now that we are big boys we take our cars apart and have to send for the garage man to put them together.

The pleasure of getting a picnic lunch ready at home is passing, as restaurants now do that job, much to mother's delight.

Our idea of an optimist is a man who, when the dentist pulls the wrong tooth, says, "Oh! well never mind that one will never ache anyway."

Louise, the stenographer, says she bets a lot of vacationists are anxious to come home and rest up.

The average Maryville man does not have much trouble in arranging his vacation, as the boss tells him when he can take it and his wife tells him where they are going.

If you want to find out just what is the matter with that car of yours just ask any Maryville dealer of a rival car. He will be glad to tell you.

What the World Is Doing

AS SEEN BY POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE

Oyster Shells Bring Rich Crops for Farmers

Burning and grinding oyster shells into a powder to make plants grow, is a growing industry of the South. A recent scarcity of nitrates forced farmers to look for some other fertilizer, and they adopted the oyster. To use something that lives at the bottom of the sea, the food of a starfish, for improving land seemed impossible at first, but in the powdered shells were found qualities that enriched the soil and so they are now being widely used. The shells are burned on a grate over a roaring fire. They are hauled by wheelbarrow to a conveyor which carries them to the place called a pulverizer, where they are mashed and ground into fine dust, ready for the farmer. This recently developed industry has brought oyster hunting to a state where it is said to be more profitable than any other kind of fishing.

Change Golf-Club Weight to Suit the Player

To enable the weight of a golf club to be instantly adjusted to suit the player, one manufacturer has inserted removable pieces of lead in the head of the stick. As changes may be made during the game, this does away with the need of carrying several drivers or brassies in the bag so as to have a variety to select from in meeting various situations. ¶ Slight changes in the weights of the clubs also have proved useful when the player feels out of form.

Watchdog "Travels Beat" in Aerial-Cable Cage

Similarly to the way in which packages are carried in stores in traveling overhead baskets, a dog makes the circuit of his master's grounds in London at regular intervals in a traveling elevated cage. The dog appears to understand the responsibility of his place and is keenly on the lookout, speedily giving the alarm when he sees an intruder on the grounds.

Lions Tamed by Electricity Instead of With Whip

As a more effective means of training lions that eventually perform in the rings of a circus, lion tamers are reported to favor an electrically charged wire instead of the whip. When a beast has just begun its education, it often attempts to attack the instructor when his back is turned. Formerly the trainer's security was in keeping a sharp watch over his shoulder and striking out with the heavy piece of leather when the animal jumped at him. But now a charged wire is stretched across the cage, and when the beast touches it, it receives a lesson that leaves a deeper impression than a blow.

Luminous Clouds to Light Bottom of the Ocean

Luminous clouds of artificial light are used in experiments being made to find a method for taking photographs and moving pictures of the ocean's floor, where the "Lusitania" and many other ships, some laden with treasure, lie buried out of the reach of divers. By spraying the water with a chemical designed to reproduce the phosphorescence of waves, a scientist believes it may be possible to light up the sea sufficiently to take pictures of objects, many fathoms below the surface. At present, beyond a depth of 50 feet, it is virtually impossible to see more than 10 feet in any direction.

Temporary Wire Fences for "Hogging Down" Corn

The drawing shows the construction of a temporary fence for "hogging down" corn or other forage crops on a farm. Each stake is made from a length of pipe, which is flattened at one end so that it can be easily driven into the ground. A number of holes are drilled in the pipe, in pairs at equal distances apart, and a small loop made of wire is inserted into each. The wire fence is then stretched in the usual way, and a long straight piece of heavy wire is slipped down through the small loops to hold the fence in place. With this arrangement the fence may be put up or taken down in a very short time.

DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCE IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS

Dodge Brothers have not simply brought out a complete new line of motor cars. They have done something infinitely wiser and better than that.

They have brought new beauty, new riding ease and new mechanical perfection to the product on which their reputation as builders has been founded.

They have built a better and a more desirable line of motor cars—yet basically and fundamentally the identity of their product remains the same.

The same sturdy engine is under the hood; the same dependable chassis, improved in numberless details, underlies the body.

But the rear springs—now underslung—have been materially lengthened. The wheelbase, too, is longer, and the combined result is a notable improvement in riding qualities.

Bodies of all types have been designed to give improved appearance, and greater comfort. Lower, longer, with deeper seats and more leg room, the lines of these new cars are low-swung and graceful—the interiors are comfortable and roomy.

New head lamps and fenders, especially designed by Dodge Brothers to conform with the general lines of the car—a long straight hood and cowl effect—longer and wider running boards—unusually wide doors—combination stop signal and tail lamp—and instruments attractively grouped on raised panel—are a few of the numerous body innovations common to all types.

Combining these features with important mechanical improvements too numerous and technical to enumerate here, it is not extravagant to predict a reception for these cars unprecedented in automotive annals.

Late Emerson Hough Called Apostle of the Southwest.

By Boris Bolt

Lived life he described among pioneers, desperadoes and gunmen of Early West.

The late Emerson Hough, who wrote only of the adventures he knew by actual experience.

The late Emerson Hough might well be called "The Apostle of the Southwest", for to him, more than to any other man, is due the fact that we have authentic pictures of its development. Too often have the early West and Southwest been playgrounds for the fancy of authors without real knowledge of their people or conditions. And thus has grown up a lurid literature, stilted and unreal, through which move fabulous heroes and villains blacker than the night.

But Hough lived amid the conditions he describes. At the age of twenty-three he was practising law in the bustling, little cow town of White Oaks, New Mexico. He knew the pioneers, the desperadoes and bad men of the early Southwest. In his new book, "North of 36", he has given us a magnificent and startling picture of the first cattle drive from Texas north to Abilene, Kansas. The herd belongs to a beautiful young girl, Taisie Lockhart, "an orphant", as her rough cow hands call her. She is broke — cannot pay her men—and a market for the small herd left her by the pilfering carpetbaggers of reconstruction days in Austin, is her one hope.

Rudabaugh, an outlaw of vision and state treasurer, who has been stealing lands in Texas, foreseeing their great value when the first cattle are driven "North of 36", fears that his plans will be anticipated if the herd wins through to Abilene. He pursues, with his desperadoes, the wild little caravan lead by Taisie through trackless wilderness, over swollen rivers which must be swum by cattle, horses and humans. Had it not been for Dan MacMasters, two-gun sheriff of Gonzales, the secret though misunderstood ally of Taisie Lockhart, the first herd could not have won "North of 36". And, by the way, this MacMasters is as picturesque a character of the frontier as any found in the pages of Bret Harte.

Hough's fame must rest largely upon this truest, most complete and stirring account of the opening of the great Southwest.

RECALL EVENTS OF HISTORY

Documents Presented to Massachusetts Historical Society Are of the Highest Interest.

One of the important gifts to the Massachusetts Historical society with associations of the anti-slavery period of the last century is from Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, says the Boston Transcript. It is a large volume containing letters, posters, clippings and other pieces relating to the famous case of George Latimer, the first fugitive slave seized in Boston, October 21, 1842. With these is a complete file of the Latimer Journal and North Star, in seven numbers, published between November 11, 1842, and May 10, 1843, and edited by Bowditch's father, Dr. Henry Ingersoll Bowditch, and William Francis Channing and Frederick S. Cabot.

The seizure caused great excitement in Boston, and steps were immediately taken to defend Latimer. The editors say at the outset that its great object will be "to give utterance to the alarm and indignation of Massachusetts at the encroachment of slavery on her soil."

The letter which Latimer, on October 22, 1842, sent to the Boston ministers asking that prayers for his release might be offered on the following Sunday, was recently given to the society by Grenville H. Norcross, and is now with this collection. It is in the handwriting of Samuel E. Sewall, and the signature of Latimer (by his mark) is witnessed by him.

PRANKS OF THE LODESTONE

Gems Glued to the Ground and Nails Drawn Out of Boots Are Among Stories Told.

Swedish sailors tell queer tales about the country near the Arctic circle where lodestones are found. Hunters, they say, have laid their guns down and found them glued to the ground when they came to pick them up again. Men have have had to take off their boots to get home again, when the nails in them have stuck closely to the ground, says the Detroit News.

There is the tale of the Lodestone mountain in the Arabian Nights, where a vessel was drawn toward it and toward it until, when it approached the fatal shore, all the nails were drawn out and flew toward the mountains and the ship sank to the bottom of the sea.

The Viking sailors used a raft as their compass. They put a lodestone on a little raft and it floated always with the one end towards the Lode star. By this fashion they could tell in the daytime as well as at night in what direction they were sailing, provided the water was still enough to let them float their little raft.

Tennis Ball Scales.

Few tennis players know how tennis balls for the tournaments held under the sanction of the National Lawn Tennis association are tested. It appears that the machine that one expert uses to weigh tennis balls is similar in appearance to an instrument used to find the specific gravity of a liquid. It consists of a long glass tube in which water is placed at 75 degrees Fahrenheit. A second tube, on which fractions of ounces are marked, with a certain weight of buckshot in the base and a holder for the ball on top, floats in the water.

A ball must weigh no less than two ounces or more than two and one-sixteenth ounces to be accepted, and when it is placed in the holder the tube reveals the slightest irregularity in its weight.

Great in Many Ways.

Both Washington and Lincoln were of large build. The former, according to the letter which he wrote when ordering a suit of clothes from a London tailor, was "six feet high and proportionately made—if anything rather slender than thick for a person of that height." The "best weight of his best days" was 220 pounds. Lincoln was four inches taller and weighed 180 pounds, was of narrower chest and less erect. Both lived in youth much the same out-of-door life—Lincoln having the ruder existence. Both were very muscular, being the champions of sport in their respective days and localities. Both were robust in mental qualities as in physical strength and endurance. Both Washington and Lincoln were temperate in all things.

Ralph Patterson Is Visiting Here

Ralph A. Patterson of Santa Anna, Cal., formerly a resident of Arkoe in Nodaway County, is making an extended visit with friends in this county. He is visiting at the home of R. T. Witzell of this city and Arthur Davis of Guilford.

Mr. Patterson used to live on a farm near Arkoe. He is the son of York Patterson who used to make brooms. In the year 1888 Mr. Patterson left Missouri and has since been in California. He has been connected with a house moving company.

According to Mr. Patterson he has been leasing some of his oil lands to the Standard Oil Co. It is expected they will start drilling on 25 acres of his about the first of October.

Mr. Patterson has also branched out in the chicken raising industry. He says that he has fifteen acres which he devotes exclusively to raising White Leghorn chickens but has leased six acres to some Japanese who have 10,000 chickens at present. The name of his ranch is the Dolce Palm Poultry Farm, the first name being taken from the Spanish.

Mr. Patterson is only six miles from Huntington Beach, a famous resort. He likes the country out there and says that he is going to return in about eighty days.

The Alterer of Habits

FRANK STOCKTON wrote a tale about a monarch who relied on an official called the "Discourager of Hesitancy." This officer's task was to prod folks who dallied over important decisions.

Modern advertising likewise fosters prompt and judicious decisions. But advertising might better be called the "Alterer of Habits." It brings many changes to pass. And these changes are for the better—always.

Advertising has revolutionized the personal habits as well as the buying habits of the nation. It has elevated our standards of living. It has made us eat better, sleep better and dress better. It has added countless comforts and conveniences to the daily life of each one of us.

Advertising has taught us how to find the best buys in almost everything imaginable without indulging in the needless habit of "shopping around." It tells us just where and when to go for what we want and how much to pay. It lets us compare prices and qualities without even stirring from our homes. It vouchsafes our money's worth.

Do you read the advertisements that appear daily in this paper?

IT'S A PROFITABLE HABIT.

Physical Health means—
Beauty!

HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is run down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and lifeless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity supplant those that might have been gazes of admiration.

Restore your health and beauty will take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—rekindles the spark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be repaired. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that handicap beauty.

As physical health means beauty so, too, does S. S. S. mean beauty. For S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism. S.S.S. and good health go hand in hand.

The combination barn and hay shed as well as the attached silo of Glen Gordon, a mile north of Hopkins, burned at an early hour Monday morning, it being shortly after midnight when the alarm was given.

The barn was filled with new alfalfa that was put in a little green and it is believed the fire started from spontaneous combustion. There was 40 or 50 tons of hay some corn and farm implements in the barn and the big silo attached to the barn also burned. There was $600 insurance on the barn and $600 on contents but this will not cover the loss, the barn and silo being estimated at $1400. Late Telegraph News

Kansas City, Aug. 27—General business in the Tenth Federal Reserve district is running ahead of a year ago, although it has experienced some of the usual prolonged summer dullness, according to the report today of M. L. McClure, chairman of the board of directors of the reserve branch bank here.

Production in virtually all lines of industry is being maintained at a generally higher rate of activity than at the corresponding period last year, the report said. This is true especially in meat packing and flour milling.

The crude oil output has only slightly receded from the high point of previous months, it was announced. Curtailment of operations have materially reduced production of lead and zinc and soft coal mining operations, while larger than last year, are restricted by lack of market demand.

Reports of wholesale trade indicate a large distribution of commodities both for immediate requirements and for the coming fall and winter. Hardware and implements, with delines in volume of sales, alone are exceptions, the report said.

Yields of most crops was estimated as being above the average and in some cases larger than last year. The wheat crop in the district has been reduced greatly and extreme hot weather and lack of moisture has seriously injured the corn crop in Southern Kansas and Oklahoma.

Cotton in Oklahoma has suffered greatly and in some counties generally of large production, less than a half crop is expected, according to the report.

Building activity was reported holding up well in the larger cities. Labor generally is fully employed.

LETTERS IN THE SLEMP EXPOSE

WAS RECENTLY CHOSEN

As Private Secretary to the President —Letters Read Into the Record

Washington, Aug. 27—The appointment of C. Bascom Slemp to be private secretary to the President surprised the entire country. To the better element of the Republican party it brought keen disappointment, and by all citizens of all political parties Coolidge would put his administration upon a high plane from the outset, the appointment of Slemp is sincerely deplored.

Letters In the Slemp Expose

The evidence produced in the case of former Congressman C. Bascom Slemp in connection with the alleged traffic in Federal offices in Virginia was in the form of letters read into the Congressional Record by Congressman Harrison. Cancelled checks were also included among the exhibits. It is admitted that some of the money obtained from successful applicants of Federal jobs went to the Republican National Committee.

Congressman Slemp's sentiments with respect to the collection of money through the sale of post-office appointments is shown by the following letter to Powell under the date of December 22, 1921:

"Dear Ben: I have letters in regard to the collection of money for post-offices. One must be very careful about this. It will bring the party into disrepute, which would be very bad for everyone. We must preserve our standing with the people and with the administration. With best wishes, I am

"Sincerely yours,

"C. B. Slemp."

It is pointed out that he makes no protest against the collection of money for post offices (appointments), but warns that "one must be careful about this," and closes with "best wishes."

The following letters placed in exhibit were written to referee Powell and bore either the signature of L. B. Howard, Secretary, (to Slemp) or his initials:

"January 12, 1921

"The postmaster at Henry, in Franklin County, has died. The Department is asking for the name of some one to appoint acting. The office pays about $600. I wish you would get in touch with Beverly Davis or some one and let us have name as soon as possible. I would have the party send in a little contribution, say $25 or $35."

July 2, 1921.

"I think I have arranged for the appointment of Mrs. Angel at Boon Mill without an examination though I prefer you keep this in confidence. Do you think it would be wise to ask them for a little more help on our state work?"

July 16, 1921

"I am going to depend on you to work out the Henry County appointment.....Of course, you know that it is necessary in making these appointments to get men in that will help us in a financial way, and also I want you to look after the situation in Campbell County."

"July 19, 1921.

"The Post Office Department has asked us to give them the name of some one who they can appoint as acting postmaster at Scottsburg. Please get in touch with Lee Wolfe and give us the name at your earliest convenience. Be sure and get some one that will help us out in our finances."

July 26, 1921.

"I think I have succeeded in having Clyde Boone appointed rural mail carrier at Wirta. Had you better see him and have him help a little."

July 26, 1921.

"I have succeded in having Mr. Archie H. Kirkland appointed rural mail carrier at Concord Depot. Can you see him and have him help out a little on expenses? You know how to handle matters of this kind so there will be no come-back."

"September 22, 1921

"Replying to your various letters will say first, that you need not have any fear as to Mr. Slemp's friendship for you and appreciation for your valuable service."

"September 28, 1921.

"This is what I want you to do. Don't send any more money to Richmond until I see you..... Another thing I want you to do for me is this. I have been asked to contribute to the campaign fund, but was told to get what I give from my friends that we had been helping in the way of appointments. If you will arrange this for me I will appreciate very much, say something like $200. You can say to our friends that this contribution is for me so there will be no trouble about it..... Your letter relative to the Phoenix office received this morning and the matter will be handled as you desire. If you have not already done so don't send the balance of his contribution to Richmond..... Don't worry about the letter Bascom wrote you. When I see you will explain everything."

"January 14, 1922.

"Everything came in O. K. this morning. I gave Mr. S. $200."

Fac-similes of the foregoing letters on the stationery of Congressman Slemp are in the possession of the Democratic National Committee.

Ford Cars to Have Higher Radiators

New Radiator Sets an Inch and a Half Higher Than Former One—New Types Are Now in Production

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27—Introduction of a higher radiator, bringing new and improved body lines to all Types of Ford cars, is announced today by the Ford Motor Company.

The changes have just gone into effect and the various types are now in production.

While the larger radiator has been made standard on all types and while it has made possible other betterments in body design, there is no radical departure in construction but rather a general improvement which has resulted in more graceful lines.

The new radiator sets an inch and a half higher than the former and has an apron at the bottom which joins a similar apron effect of the fender on either side, giving a highly finished appearance to the front of the car. The larger radiator also increases cooling efficiency.

Marked, too, is the improvement in the four door sedan. Highly popular since its introduction a year ago, because of its low, graceful lines, the car now presents even much better lines and a sturdier appearance.

This has been brought about by the installation of an entirely new cowl with a graceful sweep from the dash blending into the larger hood and radiator. The change also affords an increase in leg room for occupants of the front seat.

The new radiator also is extended to the Ford truck chassis, affording improved appearance and better cooling to delivery services.

These new Ford types and the generally recognized performance ability of the Ford under all motoring conditions, promise to bring a greater demand than ever before as the public becomes more fully acquainted with the higher standards and greater values which have been incorporated. No changes are contemplated in prices.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Caldwell of Burlington Junction left Saturday in their car for Des Moines, Ia., to attend the Iowa State Fair.

Party Visited Sabetha Yesterday

Several Maryville Men In Kansas Town Yesterday and Were Guests Of Charles S. Haines

A party composed of Harvey L. Haines, H. F. Leet, Will F. Phares, E. E. Williams, Frank P. Reuillard, Ed W. Keck and James Todd drove to Sabetha, Kan., yesterday to visit the Sabetha Country Club. They were guests of Mr. Haines brother, Charles S. Haines at dinner at the Country Club at noon. Sabetha has an eighty acre golf course and a fine new club house.

Sabetha is a town of about 2,000. Much public improvement has been done in that town. In addition to having several miles of paved streets, paving is being done at the present time on some of the streets of that town. They have a fine new hospital building, a municipal auditorium which cost about $75,000 and which could not be built for $125,000 today, and many other public improvements. The roads near Sabetha are in fine condition.

The Haines store at Sabetha was visited. It was at this store where Harvey L. Haines received his first education in the dry goods business. The store at that time was conducted by his father, H. C. Haines, who is still living at Sabetha. Charles S. Haines is in charge of the Haines store at present time. This store carries a complete line of ready to wear goods in addition to dry goods. It would be a credit to a town many times larger than Sabetha.

92-Year-Old Woman to Aid "Better Missouri"

Sedalia, Mo., Aug. 27—The aims and work of the Missouri Association were connected up directly with the progressive efforts for "empire buildings" that characterized pioneer generations in Missouri, when Mrs. Sarah E. Cotton of Sedalia last week sent in her check for $100 as a sustaining member of the association.

Mrs. Cotton, who is 92 years old, is still possessed of a mind uncommonly keen and active and she takes the same interest in activities that look to the upbuilding of her community and state that characterized her energetic father and grandfather, back in the days when Central Missouri was bordering on the fringe of civilization.

Visiting In Lincoln

Mrs. Helen Hopkins and daughter, Miss Carrie Hopkins, went to Lincoln, Neb., yesterday morning to spend two weeks at the home of Mrs. Hopkins' daughter, Mrs. Charles Hudson, and family.

Flying Field Is a Necessity, Says Carter

All Towns In Middle West Should Provide Facilities For Planes

Facts in what he terms the miraculous development of the airplane since its invention some score of years ago are outlined in an article in the current issue of Apropos by W. Frank Carter, of St. Louis, an attorney active in the promotion of a flying field for that city and in securing the international air races which are to be held at St. Louis Field October 1 to 3.

The article, which he calls "The Value of Landing Fields to a City," calls attention to the problem of rapid travel and of congestion in traffic caused by the development in the automobile industry.

"The congestion of the highways on holidays and Sundays has made nearly every motorist from time to time ask the question: What is it going to be in a few more years with automobiles being turned out at the rate they are today?

Make Tremendous Strides

"Well, everyone has his own ideas about that, but few perhaps have realized the tremendous strides being made in the newest and swiftest method of transportation known to man—the aeroplane and the dirigible.

"It is only twenty years ago that the Wright brothers made the first flight in a heavier-than-air machine, and the distance was only 852 feet.

"This year, Lieuts. MacReady and Kelly flew 2,700 miles across the continent, over Alleghenies and Rockies, prairies and cities, in 27 hours. But that is only one of a dozen miraculous flights equally wonderful that have been accomplished by the aeroplane and the dirigible.

"An American aeroplane has climbed to over 35,000 feet above the clouds, a mile higher than the highest mountain in the world, and another has traveled at 239 miles an hour, or 4 miles a minute; another has remained in the air, without coming down, for over 36 hours! Several have flown across the Atlantic and several have hopped from England to Australia—more than half way round the world."

Other feats are related by Carter, whose enthusiasm leads him to declare that "the progress in this direction is no less remarkable than that of flight itself."

Eliminates Danger of Flying.

"Landing fields," he continues, "are one of the means of eliminating danger in flying, and as flying must soon be an important adjunct to travel, the cities which build adequate landing fields, with the proper equipment for refueling, repairing, housing and mooring aircraft, will be the ones that will have the first and most important highways located on them. Just as with the ocean liner, the airports which have the best facilities will get the biggest and best airlines."

Carter relates how St. Louis is spending more than a quarter of a million dollars on a flying field, and shows that it has been profitable by explaining what the air races this fall, October 1 to 3, inclusive, will mean to that city.

"All towns or cities in the Middle West which want to be on the aeronautical map," he says, "and prepare for this tremendous development that is going to come in the manufacture of aircraft and aeronautical equipment, should begin to lay their plans for establishing permanent landing fields in their midst.

"The age of aerial transportation is at hand for those who want to grow up with it."

Love rules the world. It is the power that makes or mars men. It is the road that drives to success or the weight that drags to the gutter. Love can move mountains. It does sway industry. And here is the love story supreme, the story of a love that rocked a railroad—a moving, smashing drama of men and women of the railroads—a mighty photodrama of flesh and steel, hot with the blaze of human emotions, cold with the calculations of relentless commerce. You can't afford to miss this picture. Make sure to see it. Matinee 3:00—10c and 33c. Night 7:30 and 9:00—10c and 33c.
